

Baxter Healthcare Corporation Home Sharps Disposal Plan

Baxter does not distribute or sell self-injected medication direct to patients. The majority of our products are dispensed in clinical settings by licensed health care professionals. However, Baxter does provide self-administered hemophilia therapies to patients in California through licensed specialty pharmacies and home care pharmacies.

We rely on these pharmacies to provide the patients with Sharps containers and disposal programs in accordance with California medical waste regulations. We will inform all of our specialty and home care pharmacies in California of the regulation to ensure that they have proper Sharps disposal procedures in place.

To improve patient education we are currently modifying our web-based patient information to include instructions on proper Sharps disposal.
